With over 650 alumni, Spartans in Public Health are mobilizing change in meaningful ways. Join Michigan State University Master of Public Health program's academic advisors and recruitment coordinator as they share information about the program. This session gives prospective students an opportunity to explore the benefits of receiving your degree from MSU. Meet the team that will guide your success throughout the program during a live presentation and learn more about the program application process, academic advising and career advising. Q&A session to follow the presentation.
